POPE PIUS X DYING;
VATICAN OFFICIALS
ABANDON ALL HOPE*Those at Bedside Do Not Think He Will Live
Through Night.*GREET PERSONAL ATTENDANTS*For Nearly an Hour Those Employed at the Vatican Flocked Into Skir-

Realizes that He is Leaving the Earth.

By Henry Woods.
Staff Correspondent United Press.
ROME, April 16.—Pope Pius X is dying. His end is only a question of a few hours, and his brother, sisters and high church dignitaries about the bedside believe he will not last through the night.

Such was the information given tonight by a church dignitary, who shook his head when leaving the Vatican saying that the Pope's end was near.

Dr. Marchisiani said into this afternoon that he has not, at all, abandoned hope. When asked for his opinion regarding the Pope's condition, Dr. Amica refused to make a statement.

Dr. Amica, hastily summoned from luncheon to the Vatican this afternoon, found the Pope suffering from a weak spell. It is believed that the end is not far off, although the papal physicians issued a reassuring bulletin this morning.

Although they tried to conceal their fears, Cardinals Merry del Val and Hesse were unable to hide their alarm for the safety of the Pope from the pilgrims they were receiving throughout the day. Later they admitted that the Pope's condition was critical.

Realizing that his end is not distant, Pope Pius this morning asked permission to bid farewell to his personal attendants. This was granted by the papal physicians, and for nearly an hour a stream of cardinals, bishops and cooks entered the sick chamber and knelt at the foot of the pontiff's bed. The Pope gave them his blessing one by one, and tearfully waved them from the room.

The bulletin issued by the physicians read:

"The Pope slept peacefully for several hours during the night, and this morning his temperature is 101.5. His heart action is good."

Despite optimistic bulletins, however, occupants of the Vatican fear that the Pope may not survive the day. It is known that he is continually getting weaker. Great crowds continue to surround the Vatican.

TARIFF BILL TO PASSUnderwood Tells President the House
Is Now in Line.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Wilson-Underwood tariff bill will be passed in its present form, according to a statement made to the President this morning by Representative Underwood. The House leader visited the White House this morning for the purpose of assuring the President that the bill has passed over the hill of most resistance, and that it is now on the highroad toward enactment.

He said that the bill will probably be sent to the Senate in three weeks.

Cheaper clothing was the slogan of the House Democratic committee this morning when it met to consider the tariff bill. The Democrats are determined to keep raw wool on the free list despite the opposition of western ranchmen, who are led in their fight for a duty of 15 per cent by Representative Ashbrook of Ohio.

The House ways and means committee met this morning to consider the request of the Manufacturers' Association that the new tariff bill not be put in force until January 1, next year. It is not thought that the request will be granted.

DEMOCRATS ARE PREVAILINGSelection of Berry for Post Job Fails to Please Patriots.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Several Pennsylvania Democrats, especially those from the eastern section of the State, are far from pleased over the selection of William H. Berry to be collector of the port at Philadelphia. Among those most dissatisfied is Congressman Michael Donohoe of Philadelphia. Berry's selection for the post is causing much discontent, but despite this his name will be sent to the Senate.

Pennsylvania has put forth a candidate to succeed James L. Davenport as consul-general at London, and American Envoy of Bedford is being urged for the place.

PROBE OF THE WHITE SLAVE
TRAFFIC PROPOSED IN BILL*Resolution for Commission and Appropriating $10,000 for Its Expenses is Offered.

United Press Telegram.
HARRISBURG, April 16.—An investigation of the white slave traffic in Pennsylvania is provided in a resolution introduced in the House today. The resolution calls for the appointment of a commission, consisting of two senators and three representatives, to prepare a bill for the suppression of the traffic in women and young girls. The commission is given power to subpoena witnesses and compel them to testify under oath. An appropriation of $10,000 for the expenses of the commission is provided. Representative Cochran of Fayette introduced the measure.

Governor Tener this morning signed the resolution providing for an amendment to the federal Constitution calling for the popular election of United States senators.

The House showed its disapproval of the action of the Senate in not acting on reform election bills when several members denounced the body this morning. Representatives Allen, Scott and Jones called attention to the attitude of the Upper House in not considering the pending legislation and suggested that something be done to compel the Senate to take action.

The House debated for an hour on the bill authorizing the powers of the fire marshals. The bill was introduced by Representative Allen, and the bill was only moved from defeat by having it returned to committee.

Sons of Lachawanna introduced a bill in the House providing for increasing the license fee of non-resident hunters from $5 to $20 a year.

WANT SCHOOL CODE CHANGEDSomerset Legislator Has House Pass
Repealer for One Session.

SOMERSET, April 16.—Representative Robert W. Lohr of Somerset county is the author of a bill to repeal a section of the School Code of 1911, which has passed the House by vote of 149 to 2. The section provides that where pupils are transferred from one district to another by the provisions of the code, the new district to which they are assigned shall have grades and other facilities equal to that of the original district they attended.

The measure, concerning Somerset borough and Somerset township was further complicated by the section the Lohr bill will repeal if it passes the Senate. Before the bill reaches the Senate, the code of the borough district, extended out into the township a half mile in all four directions. The code reduced the borough district to the actual confines of the borough, and the extending section would compel the township board of directors to provide graded schools of equal efficiency to those of the borough.

The result would have been that pupils in the half-mile zone would have been provided facilities as good as the borough district, while the balance of the township would not have benefited by the raising of the standard.

CAMP ORDERS HERECompany D Will Leave for Erie on July 5.

Orders for the annual encampment of the Tenth Regiment of which Company D is a part, were received by Captain A. R. Kild this morning. The encampment will be held this year from July 5 to 12 inclusive at Erie.

The company will leave town on the morning of July 5, arriving at Erie that day and taking up quarters with the remainder of the Second Brigade.

During the encampment the annual inspection will be conducted by the inspector-general's department.

LEAVE KIDS AT HOMEChief Hester Says Saturday is End Night to Bring Them Down Town.

Chief of Police George Hester advises parents to leave their children at home when coming down town Saturday evenings. "The chief refers particularly to children wheeled in go-carts and babies in arms."

"Saturday nights, when the streets are crowded greatest of any night in the week," he said, "thoughtless parents bring their children down town and circulate among the crowds, and it's a wonder to me that many babies aren't injured. Parents wheel them through the crowded sections of Main and Fifth streets, apparently, with little thought of danger."

The chief suggested that the babies be left at home on Saturday night of all nights.

When Pope Pius Visited Venice as Patriarch.

POPE PIUS X LEAVING VENICE AFTER OFFICIAL VISIT.

This picture is in some ways like a master's of painting. It is worth your study. It shows Pope Pius X at Venice, where he was patriarch before he became Pope. The Pontiff is in the center at the top of the steps leading down to the canal. A nobleman is kneeling and kissing the pope's hand. Grouped around the holy father, as though purposely posed, are people of lowly origin who had pressed around the Pope to receive his blessing. Below are the two gondoliers ready to receive the pontiff into their boat.

credit Fisher Girl's Story.*WIFE WILL BE LAST WITNESS

Will be Called Again to Stand in an Effort to Prove that Her Husband was Not With Girl on Certain Occasion; Accused Man is Under Strain

United Press Telegram.
PITTSBURGH, April 16.—Ushers of the First Liberty Presbyterian Church this morning testified in the third day's proceedings of the Heeter trial that Superintendent of Schools S. L. Heeter, against whom several serious charges are being preferred by Ethel F. Fisher, is a regular attendant at church services, and that his always attends meetings in company with his wife.

This testimony was introduced by the defense this morning to show that Heeter was in church on the day the Fisher girl claimed he remained at home with her. Employees of the schools were placed on the stand before noon adjournment to testify that Ethel Fisher never visited Heeter in his office, as the girl testified when on the stand.

The testimony of Mrs. Heeter that she was with her husband on one occasion when Heeter is supposed to have been in company with the girl, will conclude the testimony for the defense.

In court this morning Heeter showed the strain through which he has been laboring since the commencement of the trial. He was pale and visibly affected.

Late yesterday both Mrs. Heeter and her mother took the stand in behalf of the accused man. They testified that happenings to which Ethel Fisher had stated would have been impossible for her husband to have been engaged in. Mrs. Heeter denied that she had ever relieved the girl from her task of putting the children to bed, and that it would have been impossible for her husband to have been unduly familiar with Ethel without the knowledge of the household.

Heeter, when on the stand, declared that Ethel Fisher had never visited his office in the Fulton building.

terprises, They Decline Better Light for Lawn Project.

At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Carnegie Free Library last evening, the matter of making the library a private business center was taken up and following a discussion it was decided that hereafter the library would not be a center for such enterprises. As a courtesy to the women interested in the European travel class the trustees agreed to allow two free needlases there.

Additional lights for the lawn were discussed and the building committee instructed to get in touch with the Fayette County Gas Company regarding the matter. The idea is to erect a pedestal with one light at each of the four corners of the library walk.

A report was made of the excellent showing made by the branch station in the West Side and until otherwise ordered Miss Mabel Sullivan was appointed in charge with a salary of $10 per month. The trustees also authorized the employment of an additional assistant at the library during the summer to assist at vacation time and to aid in extra work at the library. It was agreed that Miss Elizabeth Clark, the librarian, should attend the meeting of the American Library Association to be held in the Catskill mountains in June and that her expenses be paid. It was also agreed that Miss Clark's expenses should be paid hereafter to all other library meetings. The trustees present were L. P. Rush, E. Dunn, J. M. Grey, A. W. Bishop and J. R. Davidson.

WOOLWORTHS SIGN
LEASE; TO BUILD ON CHURCH PROPERTY*Presbyterian Building on Main Street Will Soon
Disappear.*LAST COMMUNION ON SUNDAY

Negotiations are Consummated and the Final Papers are Reviewed Today by Trustees of the Church;
Names of Contractors Forwarded

F. W. Woolworth & Co. have formally leased the Presbyterian Church property on Main street for a period of 20 years, the final papers having been properly executed. The lease was received by the trustees today and it is stated that work will be started almost immediately on tearing down the present structure. Names of contractors who will be asked to bid on this work have been forwarded to the church.

It is expected that the last communion in the present edifice will be observed next Sunday. No definite plans have been made to obtain a place of worship pending the construction of a new church, but it is probable that the old Trinity Lutheran Church property on Apple street will be leased temporarily. There are no pews in that building, but those now used in the Main street church will be utilized.

The Woolworth concern has signed a 20-year lease on the Main street property. A building will be constructed immediately and may be ready for occupancy within the next few months. A five and ten cent store will be conducted. At the end of the 20 years, the building will become the property of the Presbyterians, unless it is purchased within five years at a price much higher than has been heretofore mentioned in connection with the transaction.

Further, the Woolworth firm has agreed to purchase the property at any time, at this figure, providing the congregation has a bona fide proposition to sell and desires to accept it. Members of the church believe that the terms of the lease are very satisfactory and decidedly profitable. The income will be considerable and it will be possible to erect a new church on the South Side without imposing a burden upon the individual members of the congregation.

Wilson will investigate at once.

The commission claims to have solved the problem of relieving the region along the Yough from flood. Its preventive measures consist of the construction of 17 storage reservoirs, selected as most effective, from a large number of reservoir projects surveyed and studied by the commission's engineers; and, in addition, the construction of a low wall along a few of the low lying portions of the river banks around Pittsburg.

MOTHERS! WATCH THE CHILDREN'S BOWELS

If Cross, Sick, Feverish or Tongue Coated Give "Syrup of Figs."

Every mother immediately realizes after giving her child delicious Syrup of Figs that this is the ideal laxative and physic for the children. Nothing else regulates the little one's stomach, liver and bowels so promptly, so gently, so thoroughly as this.

If your child isn't feeling well; resting nicely; eating regularly and acting naturally it is a sure sign that its little bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When cross, irritable, feverish, nervous, sick, breath bad or your little one has stomachache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated, give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the foul, constipated, clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling baby again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and licorice, it cannot be harmful. Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, non-sweet, cathartic, nothing else can offer.—Advertisement.

Can't Get Away From It

Is it possible to nourish, strengthen and Rebuild the Brain by Food?

Every man who thinks uses up part of the brain each day. Why doesn't it all disappear and leave an empty skull in say a month of brain work? Because the man rebuilds each day.

If he builds a little less than he destroys, brain fog and nervous prostration result sure. If he builds back a little more each day, the brain grows stronger and more capable. That also is sure. Where does man get the material to rebuild his brain? Is it from air, sky or the ice of the Arctic sea? When you come to think about it, the rebuilding material must be in the food and drink.

That also is sure.

Are the brain rebuilding materials found in all food? In a good variety but not in suitable portion in all.

To illustrate: we know bones are made largely of lime and magnesium taken from food; therefore to make healthy bone structure we must have food containing these things. We would hardly feed only sugar and fat to make healthy bone structure in a growing child.

If we desired to keep brain strong and healthy we would use food known to contain the things Nature uses for the purpose.

True, Nature provides these elements in a variety of edible things. We submit the following facts for those who care to know something definite on the subject:

Analysis of brain by an unquestionable authority, George Katz, shows of Mineral Salts, Phosphoric Acid and Potash combined (Phosphate of Potash) 2.31 per cent of the total, 5.35 of all mineral salts.

This is over one-half.

Benjamin, another authority, shows "Phosphoric Acid combined" and Potash 73.44 per cent of a total of 161.07.

Considerable more than one-half of Phosphate of Potash.

Analysis of Grape-Nuts shows Potassium and Phosphorous (which join and make Phosphate of Potash) is considerable more than one-half of all the mineral salts in the food.

Dr. George W. Carey, an authority on the constituent elements of the body, says: "The gray matter of the brain is controlled entirely by the inorganic salt, Potassium Phosphate (Phosphate of Potash). This salt unites with albumen and by the addition of oxygen creates nerve fluid or the gray matter of the brain. Of course, there is a trace of other salts and other organic matter in nerve fluid, but Potassium Phosphate is the chief factor and has the power within itself to attract, by its own law of affinity, all things needed to manufacture the elixir of life."

Further on he says: "The beginning and end of the matter is to supply the lacking principle, and in molecular form, exactly as Nature furnishes it in vegetables, fruits and grain. To supply deficiencies—this is the only law of cure."

The natural conclusion is that if Phosphate of Potash is the needed mineral element in brain and you use food which does not contain it, you have brain fog because its daily loss is not supplied.

On the contrary, if you eat food known to be rich in this element, you place before the life forces that which nature demands for brain-building.

Mind does not work well on a brain that is broken down by lack of nourishment.

A peaceful and evenly poised mind is necessary to good digestion.

Worry, anxiety, fear, hate, etc., etc., directly interfere with or stop the flow of Pyloric, the digestive juice of the mouth, and also interfere with the flow of the digestive juices of stomach and pancreas.

Therefore the mental state of the individual has much to do (more than suspected) with digestion.

Brain is made of Phosphate of Potash as the principal Mineral Salt; added to albumen and water.

Grape-Nuts contain that element as more than one-half of all its mineral salts. We must remember that nearly 95% of the brain is composed of water and albumen, but the little worker Phosphate of Potash must be present in order to blend the more bulky materials into useable form.

So with Grape-Nuts. The Phosphate of Potash is more than one-half of all the mineral salts, but the total volume of those elements is exceedingly small as compared with the greater bulk of other food elements contained in Grape-Nuts.

We should also remember that this small ingredient should not be put into the food in the form it might come from a chemist, because man cannot produce these elements in as digestible a form as Old Mother Nature, when she puts them in the wheat and barley from which Grape-Nuts is made.

A healthy brain is important, if one would "do things" in this world.

A man who sneers at "Mind" sneers at the best and least understood part of himself. The part which, some folks believe links us to the Infinite.

Mind asks for a healthy brain upon which to act, and Nature has defined a way to make a healthy brain and renew it day by day as it is used up from work of the previous day.

Nature's way to rebuild is by the use of food which supplies the things required. Brain rebuilding material is certainly found in a very natural and perfect form in

OLD AT 40

Some Younger at 40 Than Others are at 40 Years.

So many people whom you meet about the time they reach 40 begin by saying, "I can't do this, and I can't do that, because I'm getting old now," they begin to act old, feel old and they are older in appearance than many who are much more advanced in years.

When you begin to feel old, when your energy begins to fall, build yourself up with our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol. It is a wonderful blood-maker and strength-giver.

Mr. J. N. Kelley, aged 75 who lives at Lake Charles, La., says: "I took Vinol for a run-down condition, it not only built up my strength, but I feel fifteen years younger than I did before taking it."

Thousands of old people have found in Vinol just the medicine they need to build up the feeble, weakened system and create strength. If it fails, we return your money. Graham & Company, Drugists, Connelville. Vinol is sold in West Side by Fred E. Hammening, Drugist.

Stewartstown, Pa.—"Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured my little boy of that awful disease eczema. When about five years old it started on the left side of his face in a small pimply forming yellow matter. It soon spread rapidly over his face and head. It got so bad and red and itched. The yellow matter ran down his face in big drops. I kept a cloth on his neck and millions of mites on his hands to keep him from scratching. The back of his head got in big scabs and when he would sleep the pillow would be wet with the water that would come out of the scabs. Then these would soften and come off. His whole head swelled; his head, face, ears, legs and hands were afflicted but the head and face were worst. We or the child never got a good sleep for a long time.

"We tried medicine and none did any good. We spent about one hundred dollars on him. They thought my little boy would die. We were told about the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and bought some. The Cuticura Soap I lathered his face with and let it dry in, then applied the Cuticura Ointment. The worst eczema was cured and it never left a scar." (Signed) Mrs. Ida Jamison, March 12, 1912.

A Sale and Demonstration of Hickson Process Lacquer Finish Untarnishable Brass Beds

Miss Redmond's demonstration is unique in Brass Bed merchandising. She actually shows in a second how easily ordinary ammonia cuts off the old style shellac lacquer used on most beds nowadays. She then shows how these same tests do not harm the bright finish of Hickson Process Lacquer Finish on the beds offered during this sale.

These are the only Brass Beds finished with a lasting lacquer that will not come off—the only line of brass beds sold with a guarantee. INSURANCE BOND given with every sale warranting the life of the lacquer finish.

Per-spiration, fly specks, toilet water, damp towels and various liquids cut off the lacquer from ordinary Brass Beds but they do not affect the surface of Hickson Process Lacquer Brass Beds. Even strong acids do not harm it. These Beds can be kept clean with soap and water—or even with a damp cloth. They are then as bright and fresh as when new.

A BUSINESS VIEW.

The Uniontown Herald is still suffering from the bump it got a few days ago when it butted into The Courier. It accuses us of being a calamity howler, and it lands up its old shotgun with this bunch of interrogations and from them at us:

"What interest does our Conneltsville contemporary represent? Has the commercial body of its own town, for instance, declared that the proposed tariff revision will be ruinous? It has not. Do the coke producers of the Conneltsville region through their organization deplore the possible effects of this revision? They do not. Are there any delegations of Conneltsville business men waiting on our gloomy journalistic neighbor with memorials of protest against revision? There are not. Does the United States Steel Corporation declare that the revision would injure its business? It does not. The Courier represents purely and simply its own editor's head, who, come right down to little brass tacks, knows as much about business and the tariff as a pig does about a belled shirt."

We might suggest that commercial bodies such as are mentioned seldom interfere in matters political because they can seldom agree upon them, but that individually members of these organizations regardless of their politics are apprehensive, and because of their apprehension they are silent. Our knowledge of politics and business is perhaps nothing to boast about, though it covers more years and wider fields than that of the editor of our contemporary. It may be presumptuous on our part to question his gift of prophecy, but the only way we judge the future is by the past. Our opinion of the probable effects of the Wilson bill is justified by the judgment of leading captains of industry and industrial publicists who know no politics save those that make the wheels go around or stop their busy whir. We quote a few out of many that have come beneath our observation.

The American Metal Market says: "The statement of the United States Steel Corporation showing that the 1909-10 tonnage decreased in 1910-11 is most satisfactory in view of the recent flood disturbances. As was to be expected, however, the tariff question is being felt in business, and especially in the retail trade, and is monopolizing the attention of all lines. The dullness of the past few days is laid at its door, and promises to occupy that position until the tariff is settled. General business is good, but good because it is running on old orders, which are fortunately very large, and which will keep manufacturing interests of the iron and steel and metal trades busy for some months. But very few new orders are being received, on account of the tariff uncertainties, and the doubt created as to what the effects are to be on general business and what the proposed lower duties may have on our prices later on. Also if lower prices are made necessary by foreign competition from slackened foreign trade, what will be its effect on the wage question. The ad valorem feature of the Underwood bill is causing considerable criticism, which promises to take the shape of protest from all branches of the trade. It is seldom that on any question of tariff, the producers, consumers, dealers and importers are found to be unanimous in the view they take. But it is certainly so in the present instance. The optimistic trade criticisms of the bill are largely colored by the desire to keep business from being disturbed, but deep down in the heart of the manufacturing interests there is a very uncomfortable feeling."

Joseph C. Butler, Jr., Vice President of the Brier Hill Steel Company, discusses the proposed Schedule C as follows: "I have given the subject of tariff revision more or less attention for a period covering forty years. I spent some three months in Washington while the Payne-Aldrich bill was being formulated. The Payne-Aldrich bill reduced the duty on iron and steel products an average of 50%, leaving about 20% or a trifle over of protection afforded by this proposed new bill. If this bill, so far as the iron and steel products are concerned, becomes a law, it will involve and necessitate such a radical reduction in the pay of employees as would prevent the workmen of this country from securing a living wage. In my judgment it would mean a revolution if the American manufacturers are obliged to reduce the wages of their employees on a parity with the wages paid in Europe."

The Steel and Metal Direct for April says: "The Underwood bill is an attempt squarely made to aid in the solution of the high cost of living by the reduction of duties on protective articles of their nature, except in the case of luxuries. It is too early to say what effect the radical departure from the protective system will have, should the bill pass in its present form. The present business is so good, and the country so prosperous, that the probable effects of our manufacturing industries may not be fully appreciated for some months. But it is impossible to believe that such a radical change of system, on which our manufacturing industries have been built up, can take place without considerable disturbance, even allowing that these manufacturing interests are now strong enough to stand alone without protection and even granting that eventually it may be for the best interests of the country. While the matter is under discussion it will certainly make for extreme conservatism, and create caution in undertaking new enterprises. Eventually, labor will have to stand its share of the decreased profits to the manufacturer, for it is impossible to believe that the present prices paid for labor in highly protected industries can be continued when the new basis of prices for manufactured commodities is brought about by the reduced tariff."

These are the views of business interests which own no politics, save those which make for prosperity. They coincide with the views expressed in these columns. The Courier hopes for the best, but it does not feel called upon to tell the country that the political party which is just now trying to cut the throat of the Conneltsville coke business and amputate the prosperity of the region is performing a needful and successful surgical operation.

A FALSE SCHEMER.

The Conneltsville School Board insists that the people shall pass upon the proposition to issue $175,000 bonds for the purpose of erecting a new and modern school building. The board will shortly issue a statement detailing the costs of the new building and perhaps indicating how the bond issue will be repaid.

In the meantime, it is interesting to note that according to the screamer with which the Conneltsville News always decorates its first page, the bond issue of $175,000 means an increase of 3.5 per cent. of school debt. This statement is erroneous and misleading. If this bond issue is approved by the people, the bonded indebtedness of the district will be increased from $151,000 to $226,000, or 3.5% instead of 3.5%. The increase on the assessed valuation is 3.5%, and the total indebtedness in case the proposed $175,000 bonds are issued will be 5.12% of the assessed valuation of the borough, or within 1.88% of the law, full limit of 7%. The assessed valuation of Conneltsville is approximately $2,000,000.

A screamer should scream truthfully as well as loudly.

The excitement over the interpretation of the Act of 1911 concerning the holding over of mayors and burgesses and councilmen, whereby it is assumed that the terms of these officers expire the first Monday in March, is not shared in Conneltsville. The Embury City is in a class by itself, and the law governing it is quite plain. It will elect city officers this fall. These officers will take their offices on the first Monday in December, 1913, unless the Legislature passes a further amendment now pending in the Senate, due the first Monday in January, 1914.

Congressman Underwood is reported to be ill. The Wilson bill is enough to make anybody sick.

The Conneltsville Chamber of Commerce is on record as an enthusiastic supporter of flood prevention by means of reservoirs. It now has an opportunity of proving its faith by its works. Conneltsville is in no danger from floods, but a storage reservoir of 1,400 million gallons capacity would enhance the value of our water supply during the summer season, and our water supply is one of our greatest attractions to luring industries.

Conneltsville fared very well in the West Penn welfare contest.

Henry Clay Stangers of Greene county has discovered an ambition to displace the Western Pennsylvania pitman. Henry is working his valiant fight. Bruce Sterling has the distribution all made. The Palmer-Sterling Barefoot Combination cannot be beaten.

The colored church seems to be almost as badly split as the Republican party was last November.

A Denver judge has shocked the nation by deciding that women may smoke and drink without impairing their character as good citizens. The decision is in strict accordance with the law of Colorado. In that State the women vote and hold office. In all respects they are the equals of the men, with all the rights and privileges of the latter, including the right to smoke and drink.

Imaginative people who impose their fairy tales on credulous reporters had better hereafter beat in mind the false witness law.

The Conneltsville schools are promised a first-class summer coach that will help the stumbling ones over the rough places.

Conneltsville's manual training and domestic science schools combine two virtues seldom found together, namely, excellence and economy.

The medical practitioner who cannot show a sheepskin is a strong candidate for the Fayette county jail.

The colored girl who attempted suicide because her mother scolded her for being out late at night ought to be thankful she is alive.

The Filmm Recall will not recall Filmm. Cullins can't return.

The Congress and the Legislature are taxing everything in sight and in mind, all for the purpose of reducing the high cost of living and the tariff under which the industries of the Conneltsville coke region are enabled to pay high wages.

When Buntz Filmm pulled the strings the Legislature refused to jump.

The association of children and cartridges is a willful violation of the law of Safety First.

The High School football team is already planning its fall campaign. Uniontown is not on its circuit.

The Uniontown Herald claims to have a reader in Trenton, N. J. Who in Trenton reads The Herald since Wood Wilson moved to Washington?

The Younglocheny dam bill is reported out and Conneltsville should give a good report on it this week.

The flood troubles of the Ohio valley have been passed on down the Mississippi which river is now wrestling with them with the aid of Pittsburgh steel.

Incendiary fires are getting too common.

LUTHERANS MAKE IMPORTANT MOVE AT CONFERENCE

At Scottsdale They Recommend Unification Plan to Pittsburgh Synod.

IS THE ONLY SYNOD OUT OF IT

The Greensburg Conference Makes First Step by Unanimous Vote in This Matter; Other Denials of a Lively Meeting Now Being Held.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTTSDALE, April 16.—An important action of the Greensburg conference of the Pittsburgh synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in its spring meeting here was the unanimous consent that the Greensburg conference petition the Pittsburgh synod to enter into the unification plan, which is that all missions within the boundaries of the general council of North America be placed under the supervision of the board of English home missions. In this is all this section and extending to the Pacific Coast and from Montreal, Canada, to Vancouver.

The Pittsburgh synod is the only synod not in this unified plan, and the Greensburg conference is the first to make a move toward this which has been urged for years. This is the first conference in the synod to make such a favorable report. In the Pittsburgh synod are six conferences: Greensburg, Ridgeway, Kittanning, Pittsburgh, Erie and Western, which is located in Eastern Ohio.

The general council is composed of the synods of New York, Ministerium Pennsylvania, New York and New England, Pittsburgh synod, Eastern Ohio synod, Augustana synod, Synod of the Northwest, Pacific synod, Central synod of Canada and Eastern Canada synod. With all but the Pittsburgh synod the English missions are under direction of the board of English home missions, the Pittsburgh synod directing this work itself.

Another matter of interest was the question of a salary for the president of the conference, and it was recommended to the synod that a salary be paid to the president.

Among the addresses was one by Editor A. F. Lauer of the Western land Journal, Jeannette, who spoke on "The church paper, a factor for building the Kingdom of God." This layman made a strong address, and among particular things advised ministers to see to it that they furnish plenty of church news for their paper.

"The Family Altar" was the topic discussed by Rev. G. W. Spaulding, of Delmont. He drew the teaching that the use of the altar should be taught the children in the home, and the proof passages and citations the rules laid down for Hebrew parents in the Old Testament.

The report of Treasurer H. J. Smeltzer, usually considered a test of progress and stability, showed a systematic growth of benevolence, which has been due to the introduction of the duplex system. The general trend showed steady growth and conservatism in the conference.

The clerical delegates recommended to the session of general council in Toledo in September were Rev. A. L. Youst of Greensburg, Rev. P. P. Bessert of Pleasant City, Rev. J. J. Bessert of Jeannette, Rev. C. A. Spiegler of Pottsville, Rev. G. W. Spaulding of Delmont, and Rev. L. J. Baker of Latrobe. The lay delegates recommended were H. J. Smeltzer of Greensburg, G. K. McGroarty of Greensburg, J. E. Wineman of Harrisburg. The list of laymen was not completed.

On the conference roll are the following pastors: A. H. Bartholomew, Greensburg; H. L. McMurray, Kittanning; A. L. Youst, D. D., Greensburg; H. M. Zimmerman, Jeannette; Charles H. Hemmelt, Berksburg; G. W. Spiegler, Pottsville; P. P. Bessert, Latrobe; I. K. Wisner, Uniontown; J. A. Doorn, McElhattan; C. J. Bessert, Altoona; E. L. Schell, Uniontown; Mount Pleasant; Ludwig Bessert, Youngwood; D. D. Miller, Masontown; J. J. Brunck, Jeannette; C. K. Spiegler, Delmont; C. J. Schweikart, Altoona; J. O. Groat, Treble; E. L. Daugherty, Altoona; L. J. Baker, Latrobe; J. P. Schell, West Newton; P. E. Stough, Scottsdale; P. A. Welcksel, Youngstown; G. A. Natanson, Kittanning; E. H. Kohn, New Stanton; Derry Station and Donegal are vacant. A committee on resolutions on the death of Rev. W. J. Miller, D. D., who died at Greensburg since the last session of conference was appointed.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 16.—The engineer from the Greensburg people at Pittsburgh has been here to the shovel factory and pronounced the machinery just the right kind for making crossarms and he notified August Speller that some of the other men from the company would be here this week and the chances are that the crossarm people will buy the plant. Whether they will operate the shovel factory here is not known for it was stated that the steel pole factory recently bought by the crossarm people will not be operated here, but the machinery will be sent away.

Building has been begun by the L. E. Smith Glass Company whose plant burned down on Saturday morning, April 14th. In order to give the men and boys who worked at the factory a chance to work they have been employed to help clean up and build some glass in the tank and this they wish to work out as soon as possible. The orders for all kinds of pressed ware and novelties made by them which they have received must be gotten out and the factory people are more than anxious to get to work.

Friends of Mrs. Laura Zundell will regret to learn that she is very ill. Her Willow street home at Wyndham is being visited by friends.

Mrs. Carrie Dancy of Uniontown, is visiting friends here.

Some excitement was created last evening by the appearance of the Y. M. C. A. running team of Scottsdale making its appearance on the streets.

Colonel TODHUNTER of Missouri

By RIPLEY D. SAUNDERS

Copyright, 1911, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

Colonel Todhunter saw Tom Strickland spring to Mary's side, catch her in his arms, and, thus holding her, face the group of women who had fallen back from him.

The next moment Mrs. Todhunter passed her own arms around the girl, letting her sink into a chair that had been brought. The mother's face was stern in condemnation.

Why don't you make the man pay too?"

"For shame!" she said to Tom. "You are not fit to touch her. For shame, sir!"

Tom Strickland's face grew white. His eyes, that had met those of Mary to note entirely, held Mrs. Todhunter's indignantly. For an instant he seemed about to speak. But the elder lady bent above her daughter, obviously ignoring him. The widening group of women looked at him with accusing eyes. Little May Doggett's dreadful charge seemed still ringing in the air.

Apparently bewildered, Tom Strickland turned away, his helpless glance resting for a breath of time on Mary's face. The shock and shame of what he had just done, and the woman's side, the women whispering behind him. He came direct to Colonel Todhunter.

"I must see you, colonel," he muttered brokenly. "You heard everything, didn't you?"

The colonel nodded, studying the speaker closely as they moved away.

"What is it, Tom?" he asked. "What can I do for you?"

Tom Strickland laughed bitterly. "Nothing," he replied. "I must tell you the only thing I can do for myself. I've got to see Stamford Tucker and shake the truth out of him!"

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that he's got to tell the truth and face this scandal in my place. He is the one foot's responsible, not I. I only know what happened. Little May Doggett to lay her disgrace at my door!"

Colonel Todhunter drew a quick sigh of relief. "If that's the truth, Tom, you're all right, and I must say I'm glad to hear it, because the case looks mighty ugly for you. Stamford Tucker has to speak plainly, Tom, as Mary's father. If you've got the proofs that'll set Stamford Tucker to time produce 'em right now."

The younger man looked the speaker in the face, a white hot anger in his eyes. Then suddenly doubt and something of dismay took the place of rage. At last he laughed mockingly, as if at himself.

"I haven't got a shred of proof," he said, "unless my own conviction, from what Little May herself has told me, can give a hold on Stamford Tucker that'll make him toe the mark. I've got the girl's word that Stamford Tucker made love to her and that she met him in secret."

"And Little May has just publicly accused you," commented Colonel Todhunter, a curious expression in his eyes as they rested on Tom Strickland's pale face. "That's mighty poor evidence, Tom. The girl has made it worthless in advance. Nobody on earth would believe you."

Tom Strickland lifted one clenched hand and swore it savagely into the open palm of the other.

"Nobody but Stamford Tucker!" he cried. "He'll know it's the truth and he'll know that Little May told me because she was trying to make me his rival. And he's got to confess that it's the truth—by God, I'll kill him if he doesn't!"

"Stop right there, Tom!" exclaimed Colonel Todhunter sternly. "You're making the biggest fool of yourself that's possible on all this earth to a man in your sex, sub!"

"Cool or no cool," cried Tom Strickland, "I'm not going to let this thing lay at my door when I know the guilty man, and know, besides, he wouldn't ask nothing better'n for Miss Mary to throw me over on account of this so that he could marry her. That's the situation, Colonel Todhunter, and no man fit to be called a man would let Stamford Tucker go free!"

"If you go looking for Stamford Tucker now, Tom," said Colonel Todhunter quietly, "there'll be a shootin' scrape in less'n two minutes after you two come together and somebody's mighty apt to get killed. If it's you, the difficulty ain't helped you any that I can see. If it's Stamford Tucker, then you're worse off'n ever, because he'll be dead and you'll be held for killing him and Little May Doggett's accusation will stand against you. Have some sense, my boy, before it's too late."

Tom Strickland laughed at the words. "I'll have sense enough," he retorted. "I'll see that Stamford Tucker don't profit by this thing. And there's only one way to see to it—and that's by having it out with Stamford Tucker himself and making him tell the truth. You can't interfere in this matter, sir, even though you are Miss Mary's father. No third party can take a hand in it, sir."

Colonel Todhunter contemplated the speaker earnestly for a moment. Then he nodded.

"You're right, Tom," he conceded. "I reckon you'll see Stamford Tucker'll have to sift this out between you, and it ain't nobody else can lift a finger. But I've just got one favor to ask of you before you go any further, my boy."

"That's that," asked Tom. "I don't mean to be disrespectful, colonel, and I'm willing to meet you as far as I can, but you see now just how things are between Stamford Tucker and me."

"I'm not saying another word," answered Colonel Todhunter. "The only thing I want you to do, Tom, is not to go looking for Stamford Tucker tonight. In the first place, he's right here, and you ain't got no business runnin' the chance of provokin' a serious personal difficulty where there's women, and in the second place, you'd better get a night's sleep for your own good, Tom. I'm talkin' plain to you, my boy, because a good deal depends on it. The chances are a million to one that there'll be some shootin' before you'll see Stamford Tucker get through with your argument, and a cool head and a steady hand are mighty useful things to have at such a time."

"I'm cool enough, sir," replied Tom Strickland. But the colonel shook his head. "Tom," he said, "I want you to promise me to go quietly home right now and go to bed. After tonight the game's in your own hands, and you can play it any way you see fit. This is all I'm goin' to ask of you. Go home and get a good night's rest, Tom. There was just the least shake in the speaker's voice."

Tom Strickland hesitated. "Go home, Tom," said Colonel Todhunter. "I wouldn't be a true friend of your father if I let you take any foolish chances in an affair of this kind. And I'm thinkin' of Mary, too, when I say this. You go home now."

The colonel's grim lips were trembling a little.

Tom Strickland nodded. "All right, colonel," he spoke finally. "I'll go home. I won't try to do anything further until tomorrow, sir."

"That's all I ask, Tom," replied the colonel.

But he saw to it that the younger man got away from the perilous scene without being subjected to temptation that might compel him to break his word. And then, knowing that Tom Strickland was safely on the road home, Colonel Todhunter looked up Sim Birdsong without losing a moment's time.

"Sim," he said, "I want you to see Stamford Tucker tonight without fail and tell him not to come into town tomorrow. Just any this to him—that Tom Strickland's looking for him on account of this here Little May Doggett business and there's a goodly to be trouble if they meet, and then you come back here and tell me what he says. I'm tryin' to prevent a shootin' scrape, Sim, and this is the only way I can see to do it."

"All right, colonel," replied Sim. "I'll look up Stamford Tucker right away and deliver your message, then I'll report to you again, sub."

"I'll just be eternally condemned," commented Colonel Todhunter to himself when Sim had departed on his mission. CHAPTER XI.

Tragedy on the Road.

SHORTLY after noon the next day Colonel Todhunter stopped in at the Stricklands' on his way home, as was not unusual for him to do. In reply to an apparently careless question, Margaret Strickland, Tom's eldest sister, told him that Tom had gone into town soon after breakfast. "A look of deep relief sprang into Colonel Todhunter's face. 'That's all right, then,' he spoke. 'And it tells me what I wanted to know. Now, Sim, I'm goin' to ask you if you can't contrive some plan that'll take Stamford Tucker away from Ninesveh and keep him away for a few days at least. If we can do that, Sim, we may be able to prevent the trouble altogether.'"

Sim Birdsong looked at the speaker with something of helpless bewilderment in his honest eyes. Then, suddenly, his face brightened.

"Leckery, I've got it!" he exclaimed. "Some of the boys was arrangin' this very night for a flashin' frolic down on Black Bottoms lake, and they planned to start before sunrise day after tomorrow. I'll make 'em count Stamford Tucker in on the deal, and I'll go out to the Tucker's and give him their invitation myself tomorrow and see that he consents to go. Then, colonel, all we've got to do is just keep him and Tom apart for one day and night—and we've turned the trick!"

"Bully for you, Sim!" approved the colonel. "It begins to look like we can see this thing through to a sensible finish, and that's a blamed sight more than it looked like to me a few minutes ago. I can tell you!"

Leaving the barroom, Colonel Todhunter drove directly out to old Rufe Doggett's place. Neither the girl nor her grandfather was at home. Returning into Ninesveh he encountered Sim Birdsong, who wore an anxious face.

"I've just seen Stamford Tucker," cried Sim. "We aren't a bit too soon in layin' our plans to prevent trouble, colonel. He's just got a note from Tom Strickland tellin' him to come into town tonight if he don't want to have serious trouble at his own home instead, so it's plain that Tom Strickland's on the warpath, sub."

"What's Stamford Tucker goin' to do?"

"He ain't goin' into town, colonel. He told me that he had an engagement to call on a young lady, so he wouldn't be at home anyway if Tom came there lookin' for him, and, besides, he says he'll do most anything to prevent trouble just at this time. He's as anxious to get away on that flashin' frolic as we are to have him get away, Colonel Todhunter."

"I'm powerful glad to hear it," commented the colonel. "Well, with Stamford Tucker not goin' into town and not stayin' at home and Tom Strickland not knowin' where he's to be found, I reckon things are pretty tolerable safe for tonight. But don't you fail to get Stamford off on that flashin' frolic before daybreak tomorrow, Sim."

"I won't, sub," promised Sim Birdsong earnestly. "I'll get him if I have to drag him by the scruff of the neck!"

Arising early the next morning, Colonel Todhunter drew in a deep breath of fresh air, grateful of soul.

"Thank the Lord!" he said to himself. "Stamford Tucker's gone with Sim and the other boys, and we've got a few days' breathin' time anyway before there's any further danger."

But even as Colonel Todhunter thus spoke young Stamford Tucker lay dead at home. He had been shot the night before, and Tom Strickland now was held a prisoner in the little Ninesveh jail accused of his murder.

A messenger bearing these dreadful tidings arrived as the colonel stood on the front gallery enjoying the fresh dawn of the morning. He came from Tom Strickland himself.

Colonel Todhunter received the news in silence, his gray brows bent until his eyes were but two glints of metal—the blue gray beneath his grim lips set in an inflexible line.

"Tell Tom I'll be with him right away," he said at the story's completion. "And tell him to keep his courage up—I'm going to do everything I can for him."

Nevertheless the colonel's own heart was heavy for Mary's sake, for Tom's dire peril and knowing well that it would all come near to breaking the heart of Colonel Bill Strickland, his lifelong friend. But it was no time to sit in cold judgment upon Tom's sin. The boy must receive all the help that was in the power of mortal man to give.

Halting a moment at the Ninesveh hotel to send a telegram to the Hon. William J. Strickland, now himself campaigning in northern Missouri, Colonel Todhunter then hurried to the jail. The moment his eyes fell on Tom Strickland's face he knew that the lad had been drinking heavily. The two clasped hands and stood facing each other in silence. At last the colonel spoke.

"Tom," he said, "I want to tell you at the start that I'm goin' to accept every word you say as gospel, and I want you to tell me the whole truth. Then while we're waitin' for your father to get here I'll know better what to do in beginnin' arrangements for your defense. You must tell me the God's truth, my boy."

Tom Strickland's plucky eyes, un-slickering, though still bloodshot from overnight drinking, held those of the speaker in a level glance.

"I'll tell you the truth, colonel," he answered. "I won't vary from it by a hair if I know it."

SHIFT THE BURDEN.

Don't Attempt to Do More Than One Man Ought to Do.

The most successful men are those who know how to "shift the burden." They don't attempt to do everything. They realize that a faithful agent or trustee can sometimes serve them better than they could serve themselves. The Trust Company is equipped to help you to "shift the burden." It will serve you faithfully in any capacity of trust. Look after your investment—manage your real estate—act as your confidential agent or trustee or attorney-in-fact in any financial transaction, and in addition to this it offers you all the facilities of a first-class bank. Come in and talk it over.—Adv.

Pimply? Well Don't Be

People Notice It, Drive Them Out

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Nothing ever cleansed the blood, the bowels and the liver like Olive Tablets. Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for cod liver oil—they oil the bowels, clear the liver, any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that cod liver oil does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with "a dark brown brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless "run down" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Try them. Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel. 10c and 25c per box.

Your Good Fortune. Fate has comparatively little to do with your destiny and your good fortune depends upon yourself. If you lay the right foundation, you will be prosperous. You never hear the man who handles his money carefully and wisely a part of it complain about fortune. He usually has a little ready money on hand and is always prepared for any financial misfortune.

Fortune does not haunt him. Worry does not sap his strength and destroy his happiness. Try having a savings account with this bank and deposit a little surplus money every week or so. You will find it a most profitable investment. The Citizens National Bank of Connelville, 133 Pittsburg street.—Adv.

A THOROUGH TEST.

One to Convince the Most Skeptical Connelville Reader.

The test of time is the test that counts.

Don's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action.

The following case is typical. Connelville residents should be convinced.

The testimony is confined—the proof complete.

Testimony like this cannot be ignored.

Mrs. J. A. Comp, 710 Pittsburg St., Scotland, Pa., says: "I was troubled by kidney complaint and backache for years and as time passed, I became worse. Although I had but little faith in advertised remedies, I finally used Don's Kidney Pills. The first few doses gave me relief and from that time on I steadily improved until I was better in every way. I have no more of a kidney remedy since. My former testimonial still holds good."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Don's—and take no other.—Adv.

Do You Need Assistance

IN THE SELECTION OF YOUR WALL PAPER?

There is a logical sequence governed largely by the existing conditions in your home which if followed will produce correct results. Each room should be treated so as to give it correct form and proportions.

Then there is the question of color and design which must suit the individualities of each room as well as harmonize with the adjoining rooms. Especially is this true of parlors, dining room and reception hall or any group of rooms when considered collectively.

I can render you valuable assistance in the selection of your Wall Papers.

A Chi-Namel Demonstration That is Different

You can ask the Demonstrator to show you any Chi-Namel product you may be interested in, actually applied.

For instance—White Enamel, Porch Furniture Enamel, Gold and Aluminum Paint, Varnish Remover (the kind that softens old varnish so it can be washed off with a common scrub brush and clear water) Floor Wa, Furniture Polish, Mission Stains, Colored Varnishes for staining and varnishing with one application.

She will not merely show you the package containing these materials, but show it in the brush, and applied before your eyes—in fact, you can take the brush and apply it yourself.

You can see the actual colors—see how easy it is to apply—how all brush marks disappear before it hardens.

This will be a demonstration worth while for any one who is responsible for the care and good appearance of the interior woodwork and furniture of a home.

By asking for a demonstration of any particular Chi-Namel product you will not place yourself under obligation to buy; this demonstration is to acquaint the public with the use and economy of Chi-Namel in the home.
